Belgian Flyer Killed When Plane Attacked

Incident Occurs Near Austria-Yugoslavia Frontier

GRAZ, Austria (U.P.) — One Belgian airman was killed and two were injured today when their Sabena Airlines transport plane was attacked in flight by an unidentified plane.

An official announcement of the incident was made by the British embassy in Vienna, after the plane had landed here.

The attack on the Belgian plane was made near the Austro-Yugoslav frontier.

Austrian officials at the Graz airport where the crippled plane landed said the surviving crewmen described the attacking plane as "an old type" Soviet-built MIG fighter.

Unconfirmed press reports said the attacking plane was marked with a Red Star and attacked the Belgian plane from the direction of Communist Hungary.

Makes Emergency Landing

The Russians are believed to have some 200 older type MIG fighters based in their zone of Austria and the Soviets have supplied MIGs to the Hungarian air force.

The British announcement said a fourth member of the crew, an Englishman, was uninjured.

After the attack the crippled plane altered course and made an emergency landing at the Graz airfield, in the British zone of Austria.

Officials said the attack apparently occurred over Maribor, Yugoslavia, about six miles south of the Austrian border and about 25 miles from Communist Hungary.

Names of the dead and injured were being withheld pending further investigation and notification of next of kin, the embassy said.

Report Three Planes Attacked

British sources said they had "no information whatsoever" on unconfirmed reports circulating in Austria that the plane which landed here was one of three Belgian planes attacked.

These unconfirmed reports said the three Belgian planes had taken off together from Munich for the flight to Yugoslavia and that all three had come under attack.

"As far as we know," a British spokesman said, "only one Belgian aircraft was involved."

In Munich, Sabena airlines officials said that two chartered Sabena air freight planes took off from Munich this morning en route to Yugoslavia. They said they had received indirect reports of the attack but did not know whether one or both planes had been involved.

Police Seek Sex Fiend for Raping, Stabbing High School Freshman Girl

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Police made a foot-by-foot search today of the quiet neighborhood where a vicious sex fiend raped, stabbed and bludgeoned a pretty high school freshman.

The victim, blonde Dorothy Westwater, 14, lay near death in a hospital unable to tell detectives anything of the man who waylaid her in the hallway of her apartment house as she left for school Wednesday.

Authorities said Dorothy's attacker undoubtedly was the same sex killer who murdered Marion Brown, 17, a waitress, three blocks away on April 8 in what was labeled the "Kiss Before Dying" case. A novel with that title was found near the body.

A brief description of Dorothy's attacker was provided by May Sullivan, 50, who found the girl, bloody and unconscious, under the hallway stairs of the apartment house where Miss Sullivan and Dorothy both live.

Miss Sullivan said she entered the building just before 9 a. m. and had walked to the first landing when she heard low moans.

She retraced her steps and saw a short, swarthy man carrying a lead pipe leaving the building.

"She's sick," he muttered as he brushed by Miss Sullivan.

Dorothy's schoolbooks and lunchbox had been thrown to one side. Her underclothes had been ripped off and her dress pulled up and tossed partly over the upper half of her body.

She had been stabbed eight times in the neck, back, hand and chest and beaten on the head, apparently with the lead pipe. Her skull was fractured and one lung punctured by a knife thrust.

Police said her nearly severed finger indicated she fought desperately against her attacker.

Dorothy was a first year student at the St. Jean Baptiste parochial high school. She was described as a quiet and refined girl. Her parents said she had no boy friends. She lived in the tenement with her parents, a brother James, 18; and two sisters, Jean, 19, and Therese, 6. Her parents had both left for work when the attack occurred.

Fifty detectives were rushed into the neighborhood of the attack. Dorothy's schoolbooks were dusted for possible fingerprints and laundries and cleaning shops were directed to be alert for any blood-stained garments.

Stratton Rules Out Big Increase In School Aid

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.) — Gov William G. Stratton has virtually ruled out any major increase in state aid to schools next year.

Stratton said Wednesday he believes there will be room in the 1955-57 Illinois budget to keep school aid at its 1953-55 level of 140 million dollars. He doesn't believe this can be hiked without a tax increase.

"All the talk I hear is that people are not in favor of raising taxes," Stratton told reporters.

He talked with newsmen after a two-hour conference with the Illinois school problems commission and Sen. Everett R. Peters (R-St. Joseph), chairman of the Illinois budgetary commission.

Stratton said there are two main features to the problem: (1) a statewide enrollment increase, expected to hit 30,000 more pupils a year, and (2) building needs in fast growing communities, like Chicago's suburbs.

The governor said if the present formula for dividing state aid remains in effect in 1955-57, it would cost the state 40 million dollars more in the next two years than in 1953-55, due to increased enrollment.

A school district must levy a certain tax rate to qualify for state aid. The state makes up the difference between the amount raised locally and an average of $173 per pupil.

Stratton said this formula must be re-examined to seek some way of meeting the needs of hard-pressed school districts without requiring any increase in state spending.

Believe Hall, Heady Knew Money Location

ST. LOUIS (U.P.)—Kidnapers Carl Austin Hall and Bonnie Brown Heady hinted the day before they died that they knew what became of the missing $300,000 Greenlease ransom money, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat said today.

The Globe-Democrat said Hall and Heady threw out hints in a death row interview last Dec. 17 with Roy S. Pruett, agent in charge of the federal Food and Drugs administration here.

The next day Hall, a drug addict wastrel, and Mrs. Heady, his alcoholic accomplice, died in the gas chamber for the kidnap-murder of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease.

Hall and Heady had obtained $600,000 ransom from Bobby's wealthy Kansas City, Mo., father. About $300,000 of the money was never recovered. The two St. Louis policemen who arrested Hall, Lt. Louis Shoulders and Patrolman Elmer Dolan have been sentenced to prison on charges of lying about what happened to the money.

Pruett would neither confirm or deny the Globe-Democrat story.

FBI Completes Arrests in Bank Holdup

Man and Woman Arrested in Florida For Olmsted Robbery

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (U.P.)—The FBI today announced the arrest of a man and a woman in Pensacola, Fla., in connection with the $16,778 holdup of the First State Bank of Olmsted, Ill., on May 5.

Richard N. Hosteny, agent in charge of the Springfield FBI office, said FBI agents arrested Roosevelt Whitaker, 26, East Moline, Ill., and Mrs. Elizabeth (Cleo) Jackson, also of the Quad-City area, Wednesday night.

Hosteny reported a complaint charging Whitaker with bank robbery had been issued by U. S. Commissioner W. W. Damron, Harrisburg.

He said Commissioner Paul C. Clutts, Cairo, was issuing a complaint charging Mrs. Jackson with receiving some of the money stolen from the bank.

Four other Negroes from the Quad-Cities previously were arrested on charges of robbing the bank and are being held at East St. Louis. They are Charles Gore, 41; Morris N. Carver, 41; James Freeman, 26, and Joseph Ligon, 31.

Driver Changes Mind

Hosteny said investigation by the FBI indicated that Whitaker, Ligon and Freeman were the three men who entered the bank and held it up while Gore was outside in a getaway car.

However, Hosteny said, Gore changed his mind during the holdup and drove back to the Quad-Cities. When the other three emerged from the bank, he said, no getaway car was on hand.

The FBI agent said the three made their escape on foot. They hid awhile near a schoolhouse where some $5,900 later was found by two pupils, apparently part of the loot left behind by mistake in the dark.

Hosteny said the three men made their way to Carbondale, where they telephoned Gore. He said Gore, Carver and Mrs. Jackson drove down the day after the holdup and picked up the three.

Hosteny said the Pensacola arrests completed the roundup of alleged participants in the robbery.

Seek Donors For Bloodmobile Here Next Week

"With the serious depletion of blood stocks over the Memorial Day weekend, when Illinois led the nation in traffic fatalities, the need is more than ever urgent that we fulfill our quota of blood donations next Tuesday and Wednesday," Saline county blood donor recruitment chairman Gene Schnierle said today.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Harrisburg next Tuesday and in Eldorado Wednesday to receive blood donations from residents of the county, and recruiting teams are hard at work in both communities in an attempt to equal or better the record of the last Bloodmoblie visit.

In Harrisburg the residential recruiting force, headed by Mrs. B. E. Montgomery, is busy canvassing the residential districts, while the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the American Legion are recruiting in the business district. The Kiwanis, Rotary, and Lions clubs have pledged their support, in an effort to produce an all-out response to the urgent need for blood.

Last month our county hospitals used 75 pints of Red Cross blood alone, not counting the blood used for county residents in out-of-county hospitals. This ever-increasing need for whole blood and plasma is the responsibility of everyone to fulfill, Schnierle said.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Harrisburg Elks' lodge from 12:00 noon until 6 p. m. Tuesday, and residents of Harrisburg who are unable to appear at that time but are willing to give blood may go to Eldorado Wednesday, at the Methodist Educational building, during the same hours.

McCarthy Plan to Probe CIA to Bring Showdown on His Investigative Powers

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — A showdown on Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's powers to investigate among the executive departments seems now to be just around the corner.

He has broken with the Republican Eisenhower administration. Most Senate Democrats and a substantial group of Republicans are opposing or shying away from the Wisconsin Republican.

Under such circumstances the senator announced Wednesday that his investigating subcommittee was looking into what he believes to be a serious Communist infiltration of the Central Intelligence Agency. CIA Director Allen W. Dulles quickly issued a statement branding the charges "false."

A showdown on McCarthy's powers to investigate would come if he forced the issue of his right to investigate the CIA.

Dulles probably would resign if President Eisenhower permitted or the Senate insisted that his agents submit themselves to investigation. A formula might be worked out, but it is not likely. The Senate would not be likely, under these circumstances ,to support McCarthy's wish to question CIA agents.

There already is some talk on Capitol Hill of curbing the senator's powers, perhaps by giving only the subcommittee, rather than the chairman, the authority to determine who and what shall be investigated, and when. There have been reports of bipartisan plans, also, to deprive McCarthy of his investigating committee chairmanships that would hurt the Senate's seniority rule and, therefore is not likely to get far.

Judging from the emphasis McCarthy put Wednesday on the seriousness of the situation on the CIA, as he sees it, the senator is not bluffing. He is of a mind to investigate. It would be his second go-round with director Dulles and the CIA. The senator started a CIA investigation last July but he was baiked by Dulles and the committee investigation was abandoned. Dulles and McCarthy agreed then to seek a formula to handle such matters. If a formula was found ,it has not yet been revealed.

Security Council Places Thailand Request on Agenda

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U.P.) — Russia charged today that Thailand's request that UN observers be sent to the Indochina region is an American plot to wreck the Geneva conference and justify intervention in the Indochina war.

Soviet delegate Senyo K. Tsarapkin told the UN Security Council that Russia would vote against any consideration of the Thai request for "peace observers" to be sent to its country to keep watch on the Communist advance in neighboring Indochina.

Despite the Russian charges the Council voted 10-1 to put Thailand's request on the agenda for a full debate by the Council.

France, which had originally opposed Thailand's move, voted with the majority against Russia.

City is Hit By Severe Rain And Wind Storm

Last night's thunderstorm which sent down sheets of water between 10 and 10:30 caused damage to trees, power and telephone lines in Harrisburg but it also was giving the city water supply a few million more gallons of water.

The rain measured 1.15 inch at the Pankey Branch station gauge. Clyde Pittman, weather observer here, said an inch of the total descended between 10 and 10:30 p. m.

T. C. Wheeler ,superintendent of the CIPS Muddy power station, which pumps the water from Middle Fork creek into the reservoir, said the big 14,500 gallon per minute pump was started at 7 a. m. today. The CIPS's 3,000 and 750 gallon pumps and the city's 800 gallon Congo pump were started a few minutes later.

Limbs were down in many sections of the city.

There were power interruptions at various times in the area during the night and CIPS repair crews were out all night and were still working today.

The severe wind and rainstorm caused considerable damage to telephone communications in Harrisburg, according to M. H. Lynch, local manager for the General Telephone Company of Illinois. As of this evening however, service is expected to be restored to the 100 telephone customers whose lines were out of order because of the storm, he said.

Lynch said the wind itself caused most of the damage by breaking tree limbs that fell on the telephone lines and cable. Repairmen were dispatched early this morning to restore service.

France Seeks Written Pledge Of U. S. Air Aid

GENEVA (U.P.)—France was reported today to be pinning future troop movements to Indochina on getting a written pledge of American aerial retaliation against any attacks by the Russian or Red Chinese air forces.

Informed sources said the French want a formal promise, in writing, because they consider numerous statements on U. S. intentions too confusing to be accepted verbally.

The sources said specifically that the U. S. attitude would affect the decision on how many reinforcements France would dispatch to Indochina from posts in other countries.

The gaps left by the troop movements could be filled from the new pool of 80,000 men whose induction has been hastened.

France's position was made known as the nine-nation Indochinese conference sought a way out of the deadlock over composition of a "neutral" team that would police ceace-fire arrangements.

In an 80-minute talk, the heads of the Big Three Western delegations were reported to have decided on a proposed slate of Asian nations to police any Indochina armistice.

The United States, Britain and France were said to have agreed on some combination of India, Pakistan, Burma, Indonesia and Ceylon.

Sen. Dirksen Reads His Own Calls to Stevens

Investigators Hear Transcripts After Long Wrangle

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — After five weeks of haggling, Senate investigators today heard the first of the monitored telephone calls taken down in Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens' office during early stages of the Army-McCarthy dispute.

The transcripts of conversations read today covered three calls between Stevens and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), a member of the Senate investigating subcommittee which is now holding hearings on the feud.

Because of the long delay in getting blanket clearance for all monitored calls bearing on the dispute, Dirksen read his own, with the consent of counsel Joseph N. Welch, representing Stevens.

The transcripts read by Dirksen quoted the secretary as saying that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) "got very mad" when Stevens reported to other members of McCarthy's subcommittee about a hearing to which Stevens had objected.

Crucified, Says Stevens

Another quoted Stevens as saying he was "crucified" by the interpretation placed on a peace-making "memorandum of understanding" which followed his Feb. 24 meeting with McCarthy and other Republican members of the subcommittee.

Dirksen read the transcripts of his calls while Roy M. Cohn, McCarthy aide and regular chief counsel of the subcommittee, was in the witness chair for the fifth straight day.

More haggling about making the monitored calls public had preceded Dirksen's action. Cohn had repeated that the McCarthy side wanted all or none to go in the record.

Dirksen then asked if there were any objection to subcommittee members reading their own calls. Temporary Chairman Karl E. Mundt (R-S. D.) ruled that they could.

Then getting down "to the tea in the Boston harbor," Dirksen asked Bostonian Welch if there were any objection. Welch said there was none.

Dirksen said he wanted to read his because there has been such a "Sherlock Holmes atmosphere" about the calls.

Reads First Call

He then read his first, dated Feb. 20, in which Stevens called him in connection with an earlier McCarthy subcommittee hearing involving Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker, commandant at Camp Kilmer, N. J.

The Zwicker hearing, at which Stevens charged McCarthy had browbeaten the general, was the spark which ignited the public display of Army-McCarthy fireworks. At one point McCarthy told Zwicker, a combat veteran, he was "not fit to wear that uniform." This was after Zwicker had refused to

Gate Crashers — He's Protecting Himself — Wilson's Wit—A Tough Man—The Difference

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Washington's Number One hostess, Mrs. Perle (Call Me Madam) Mesta, just laughed it off as a joke when she was queried about reports that invitations to her big "coming out party" on Saturday night, May 29, were valued at $500 a pair.

This is the big blowout, planned for more than a year, to mark Mrs. Mesta's return to the capital. It was a by-invitation-only affair, and tickets weren't for sale for any amount. The $500 price, however, is what one Washington publicity man offered to pay for a couple of the precious Mesta cardboards marked "Please Present at the Door."

The story got out through one woman who was invited and whose husband was approached to act as middleman in trying to cadge another two tickets. The offer was, of course, turned down.

Mrs. Mesta had prepared for gate crashers. She stationed two secretaries and two butlers at the door. The butlers collected the cards and read off the names to the secretaries for checking.

GOV. ROBERT B. MEYNER of New Jersey tells a story about ex-President Woodrow Wilson. When Mr. Wilson was governor of New Jersey, a politician called him up in the middle of the night to inform him that a member of his cabinet had just died.

Quite annoyed, the governor said he thought there was no need to wake him up to tell him that, and there would be plenty of time to name a successor. "That's just the point," said the politician. "I thought you might name me to take his place."

Governor Wilson thought that one over a minute and then replied, "It's all right with me, if it's all right with the undertaker."

CIO PRESIDENT Walter Reuther paid Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey an unusual compliment after his speech before the big labor organization's unemployment conference in Washington.

The atmosphere at this session was anything but friendly. The union delegates sat on their hands, looked the other way and made it clear they didn't believe a word he was telling them about the Eisenhower administration program.

But after the speech, Reuther observed: "This Humphrey is a tough man. He doesn't just make a speech. He believes what he's saying."

SPEAKING IN OPPOSITION to a bill providing for a White House conference on education, Rep. Martin Dies (D., Tex.) told the House, "I can anticipate the day when the President will be constantly occupied meeting with conferees . . . a large segment of the population will be officially classified as conferees or advisers."

Dies then told the story of a man from Texas who had gone to Chicago and made a lot of money as an adviser. When a friend asked him what an adviser was, he explained it like this:

"When you ask an ordinary fellow what two plus two is, he'll say four. But when you ask one of these conferees or advisers what two and two is, he'll say:

" 'When in the course of human events it becomes necessary to take the numeral of the second denomination and add to it the figure two, I say unto you and I say it without fear of successful contradiction, that the inevitable result will be four'."

YOU'D NEVER KNOW, by going into the office of Francis V. duPont, U. S. Commissioner of Public Roads, that he's a highway expert. On one table stands a huge model of a railroad train on the track. All around his large office are models of planes he has owned and flown.

The only clue to his connection with highways is a set of small model automobiles someone gave him not long ago.

Egg Dividend

SALT LAKE CITY — (UP) — Somewhere there's a hen that does the next best thing to laying golden eggs. Or maybe she feels guilty about the high price of hen fruit.

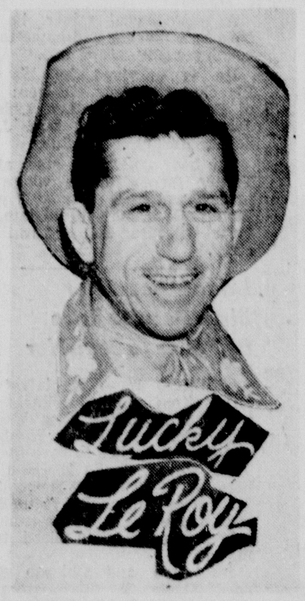

Anyway, Mrs. Adrian Earl Ferguson Jr. said she got a refund when she broke open the last egg in a carton.

Out of the egg dropped a 25-cent piece.

Split and Tension Hurt Nations, Baptists Told

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A Swedish Baptist leader asked today whether "a big Baptist country" like the United States can afford a "certain amount" of split and tension.

The leader, Joel Sorenson of Stockholm, did not answer his own question, but added that the Baptist cause in some countries "is disgraced and crippled by a lack of sense of belonging together in a national and world community."

Sorenson, who is youth secretary of the Baptist World Alliance, told the Southern Baptist Convention that "we cannot afford tension and splits."

"We are not united primarily by reason or by doctrines," he told some 25,000 members of the church, but by "our common love for and loyalty to Christ."

The executive committee's recommendation for a social security program was approved Wednesday night by some 12,000 "messengers."

The program proposed that the Senate pass a social security bill for ministers which would provide a contract between the government and the individual without involving the churches in any way.

answer questions about who was responsible for giving an honorable discharge to ex-Maj. Irving Peress, a Camp Kilmer Army dentist whom McCarthy labeled a "Fifth Amendment Communist."

The transcript showed that Stevens told Dirksen that he had telephoned McCarthy that morning at Albany, N. Y., to report that the Army secretary had conferred with other subcommittee members about the Zwicker incident.

"Of course, he didn't like it," Stevens was quoted.

McCarthy Got Mad

It also quoted the secretary as saying that McCarthy "got very mad" and had subpenaed Stevens by telephone to appear at a subcommittee hearing the following Tuesday.

"I'm sorry," Stevens continued. "I can't sit idly by and watch this officer corps crucified."

Dirksen's next call was dated Feb. 25, the day after the much-publicized "memorandum of understanding" was drafted and issued. Stevens was quoted as saying that he felt that he and the Army had been crucified by the press interpretation that he had capitulated to McCarthy.

Stevens also referred to calls to "Dick," "Karl," "Jerry" and "Charley," which were presumed to be references to vice president Richard M. Nixon; Mundt; Maj. Gen. Wilton (Jerry) Persons, a White House aide; and Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.), a subcommittee member.

In Closed Session

The special subcommittee spent almost 5 minutes in a closed session today and made only one decision, Mundt reported.

That was to distribute among the committee members and to both sides in the dispute the transcript of a May 17 closed meeting where a presidential secrecy directive was discussed.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) brought up the monitored calls when open hearings resumed after the closed session. Mundt reminded Symington that he had hoped the subcommittee would act on the monitored calls at the closed session, but added "as the senator well knows, we did not even mention them."

From subcommittee members it was learned that the May 17 secret session was devoted mostly to President Eisenhower's order forbidding anyone to give any details of any conversations purely within the executive department relating to the Army-McCarthy feud.

As the hearings went into the 26th day, McCarthy said he will request that Pvt. G. David Schine be called as the next witness after Cohn. McCarthy had been scheduled as the next witness.

Schine, the former unpaid chief consultant to the McCarthy subcommittee, is the central figure in the row.

Old Folks Booming Travel and Tourism

DETROIT — (AP) — Harry N. Rogan, travel director of the Auto Club of Michigan, says persons past middle age no longer "cling to home and hearth" but get out and go places, thus booming travel and tourism.

Resort areas, transportation lines and travel groups are slanting their promotions toward older folks, he added.

"Elderly men and women have the time and inclination to enjoy leisure," Rogan explained. "They now live longer and they have higher incomes."

Rep. Branson Suffers Heart Attack

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP) — State Rep. R. J. Branson of Centralia was reported in "fair" condition today at St. Mary's Hospital where he is recovering from a severe heart attack.

Branson was termed "critically ill" when admitted to the hospital Tuesday. The 72-year-old Republican has been a state legislator for 30 years and was an unsuccessful candidate this year for Republican nomination for state treasurer.

Stratton Calls Youth Commission Chief on Carpet

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton called Illinois Youth Commission Chairman Lee Daniels on the carpet today and told him he feels the commission "could do a better job."

Stratton told newsmen after his conference with Daniels he "felt there could be improvements" and he would "like to see the youth commission's program from this point on be more rapid."

The chief executive said he felt it was time the commission, created by the 1953 Legislature to supervise juvenile offenders, should be "getting down to brass tacks."

Stratton acted a week after State Sen. Dwight Friedrich (R-Centralia) visited him and told him the state was treating Geneva State Training School for Girls like a "stepchild."

Concerned About Geneva

Stratton said he was "concerned" about Geneva, "regarding its crowded conditions, a need for better recreation, and the possibilities of working out a farm program there."

"The commission should give a little more attention to the placement of wayward girls and make sure they are put in good homes, if they are taken out of Geneva," he said.

"We don't want any repeaters," he said.

The normal quota for Geneva is 250 girls but there are more than 350 there now, Stratton said. He said the school is "overcrowded" and it is time to get a prevention and placement program going.

Executed for Raping Girl

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Charles Edward Mauch Klinedinst, 29, convicted of raping a 13-year-old Dallas schoolgirl while on a picnic, was executed early today in the electric chair at Huntsville state prison.

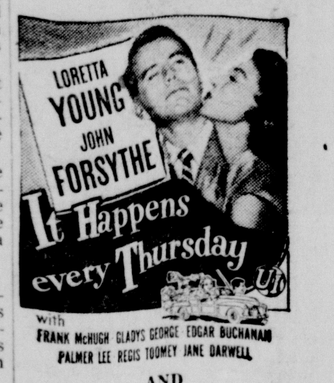

He died without making a statement. Dr. Chester A. Shaw of the prison medical staff pronounced him dead eight minutes after the switch that sent 1,800 volts of electricity coursing through his body was thrown.

Klinedinst was convicted of raping the schoolgirl last August while picnicing at White Rock Lake near Dallas. His wife was convicted of participation and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Rex Bell, One Time Film Idol, Nominated For Nevada Lt. Governor

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Rex Bell, one-time idol of the nation's Western movie fans and husband of "It" girl Clara Bow, was both surprised and elated today at his nomination for the job of Nevada's lieutenant governor.

Bell, a handsome 50-year-old, said he hoped he would be elected in November on the Republican ticket so he could become a "sort of good will ambassador" for his adopted state.

The only duties of the office are to preside over the biennial sessions of the state Senate and to serve as acting governor whenever he leaves the state.

Eisenhower Plans Public Appeal For His Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, apparently concerned about the fate of his legislative program, will try to build a fire under Congress to get as much of it into law as possible before adjournment.

Authoritative sources said today the President will appeal for public support for his program in a number of radio and television speeches before the July 31 adjournment target date.

Congress has less than two months to go if it quits on schedule. And many key points of Mr. Eisenhower's program are still in the legislative mill. Some others appear to be dead.

Mr. Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday that he was going to give his exclusive attention to getting positive action in his program. He said he could not conceive of anything more important to the country than the enactment of a legislative program that comprehends the needs and requirements of all the people.

White to Plan Court Appeal in NYC Proxy Fight

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — William White, president of the New York Central Railroad, said today a new court appeal would be made in the proxy fight for control of the $2,600,000,000 rail system.

He said the present management of the railroad would contest in court a ruling made Wednesday by three election inspectors that proxy votes of a disputed block of 800,000 shares of stock were valid.

The votes were cast for financier Robert R. Young, who leads the fight to wrest control of the Central from its present management.

The 800,000 shares of stock were acquired by Texas millionaires Clint W. Murchison and Sid W. Richardson early in the fight between White and Young for control of the railroad. Richardson and Murchison are friends and supporters of Young.

The disputed stock may become a key factor in deciding whether Young or White gets control of the railroad.

Three Sites for Air Academy Recommended By Selection Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — The site selection commission for the air force academy recommended today that the academy be located at one of these three sites:

Alton, Ill.; Colorado Springs, Colo.; or Lake Geneva, Wis.

Air Secretary Harold E. Talbott will make the final choice from one of the three sites.

Talbott said he thinks we "will come up with a final answer fairly soon, certainly within a month."

Under the law setting up the site selection commission, the secretary would have been required to accept any recommendation made unanimously by the five-man commission.

Butch Bob Called Next Hair Fashion

NEW YORK — (AP) — The next thing, girls, is the butch bob. Or you might call it the crew or the burr.

Larry Matthews, who runs an all-night beauty shop catering to show people, says the next hair style to be adopted by the American woman will be almost the ultimate in shortness — barely an inch long over the entire head.

"Women are extremists," said Matthews. "And they've tried everything else. The butch is all that's left, because women will never go back to long bobs."

"We already are giving a few of the short cuts," said Matthews, whose customers include Zinka Milanov, soprano at the Metropolitan Opera Co., Sunny Gale, singer, Julia Darvas, dancer, and Clare Luce, actress.

"By summer," Matthews predicted, "the butch will be everywhere."

"But I don't recommend it for everyone," said Matthews. "Just the same as I wouldn't recommend that Italian-boy cut for every woman.

"The butch bob is good only for the woman with a slim, small face, and naturally curly hair. You couldn't possibly give a permanent that close to the scalp."

Reds Seize Post Near Saigon

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Communist troops seized a military watchtower only 10 miles from Saigon Wednesday during a series of explosions at an ammunition dump in one of the capital's suburbs, the French high command announced today.

The post fell while Saigon troops were bringing the explosions under control. French authorities said the explosions may have been the work of Communist saboteurs.

At the same time a number of small advance posts outside the Vietnamese capital reported enemy sniping in their areas.

Sniping chiefly has a nuisance value and is used by the Communists to keep the civilian population on edge.

The fighting in Indochina shifted suddenly from the northern area of Viet Nam to the central section of the state.

French troops killed or wounded an estimated 200 rebels on the Annam coast halfway between Hanoi and Saigon. The ground troops received strong support from French planes and artillery.

Fighting also was reported to be severe near the Annam coast port of Song Cau, about 250 miles northeast of Saigon, and Red units were under attack farther down the coast.

The high command spokesman said there was very little action in the Red River Delta, rice bowl of the world and next major target of the Red conquerors of Dien Bien Phu.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

Safety zones are established for the protection of pedestrians in areas where motor vehicle traffic is heavy. Illinois law prohibits the driving of any motor vehicle through or within safety zones. (Section 82, Uniform Act Regulating Traffic.)

Pedestrians are at a very pronounced disadvantage on heavily traveled city streets, especially where there is both street-car and automobile traffic. They are in just as big a hurry as you are to get to work on time or to get home after work and relax, and trying to catch a streetcar or cross a busy street becomes a major problem.

Safety zones help some in giving them a sort of haven where they may wait for a street car or for automobile traffic to slacken so they can complete the crossing. In those areas they are supposed to feel safe. The driver who crowds in on them or drives through the safety zone is not only guilty of breaking the law, but is also committing a discourteous act that only a bully would consider.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

Allied Military Officers Discuss Strategy in Asia

WASHINGTON (AP) — High-ranking military officers of the United States, Britain, France, Australia and New Zealand met secretly at the Pentagon today to discuss joint strategy for checking Communist aggression in Southeast Asia.

A joint communique issued after the first session made no specific mentio nof Indochina, and said only that the allies are discussing "security matters of common interest in the Southeast Asian area."

The conferees indicated that today's terse communique would be the only one issued at the two-day meeting.

President Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday that the conferees would discuss what could be done or what should be done to support policies developed by the political leaders of the nations represented.

The conversations, expected to last about a week, were devoted today mainly to working out an agend a. The hard work is expected to begin Friday.

Begin Trial of Four Puerto Ricans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government contended today at the trial of four Puerto Rican Nationalists that their March 1 shooting attack in the House of Representatives was plotted in New York and that they fired at 240 congressmen "with intent to kill."

Five congressmen were wounded in the wild fusillade fired from the visitors' gallery. All have recovered and resumed their legislative duties.

The four revolutionaries are being tried by a jury of seven men and five women who were chosen within an hour after the trial started in Federal Court today. Each is charged with five counts of assault with intent to kill and assault with a deadly weapon. Conviction on all counts carries a maximum penalty of 125 years.

SHE STILL REIGNS — Maureen Connolly, America's Queen of the tennis world, has won the Women's Singles Championship of the French International Tennis Tournament, at Paris, Franche, for the second consecutive time by defeating Mme. Nation's Income Declines for 6th Month in Row WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's total income declined in April for the sixth month in a row, the Commerce Department reported today.

Wages, salaries and other forms of personal income were at an annual rate of 202 billion dollars. This was one billion dollars less than the rate of earnings in March and five billion dollars lower than the peak rate of last October.

The decline from March to April hit hardest among farm hands and workers at factories which produce metals, machinery and transportation equipment. The earning rate for other groups was "steady" in April, the report said.

Total wages and salaries in private industry during April came to a rate of 160 billion dollars per year, which was a half-billion lower than the March rate.

Farm income in April was at an annual rate of $15,900,000,000 compared to $16,700,000,000 in March.

Government payrolls stood at the same annual rate in both months—$33,300,000,000. Income from interest and dividends was also unchanged, at an annual rate of $23,100,000,000.

Demos Introduce Bill to Increase Jobless Benefits

By United Press

Democrats introduced legislation today to provide more compensation benefits to the unemployed.

The proposed law would provide for payment of unemployment compensation. The present limit is 26 weeks. The legislation introduced in the House and Senate would stretch the payments to a maximum of 39 weeks.

The new formula would more than double the average weekly unemployed benefits in some states. The primary benefits payable under state laws would be made not less than 66 2-3 per cent of the state's average weekly wage, and the benefit would be not less than 50 per cent of the unemployed individual's weekly wage.

Other late developments:

Atomic Authority: Three of the five members of the Atomic Energy Commission turned thumbs down on a proposal to increase the authority of one man—the chairman of the commission. The three joined against the proposed legislation are commissioners Henry D. Smyth, Thomas E. Murray and Eugene M. Zuckert. They opposed legislation which would make the chairman, now Lewis L. Strauss, the "principal" member of the commission. Smyth said such authority would leave other members "uninformed and essentially without function."

Farm: President Eisenhower appeared headed for a rebuff on his proposal to enact sliding scale (and generally lower) price supports for farm crops. Chairman Clifford R. Hope (R-Kans.) said it is impossible to get members of the House Agriculture Committee to agree on a "compromise" between Mr. Eisenhower's plan and farm bloc wishes to keep price supports at rigid, high levels. With a House floor clash looming, Democrats would hold the balance of power and would be expected to go along with rigid supports.

Housing: Senate Republicans, almost en masse, threw their shoulders behind President Eisenhower's public housing program. They decided at a party conference before floor debate on the administration's housing bill to support Mr. Eisenhower's proposal for 140,000 public housing units to be constructed over a four-year period.

The bill went before the Senate as a Dixie revolt against the public housing feature appeared to be evaporating.

Senate GOP leaders were confident the measure would be approved. A meeting of all Republican senators was called before debate on the measure was scheduled to begin.

The squabble over public housing appeared likely to be settled by accepting President Eisenhower's recommendation as a compromise. The President's proposal is more limited than the pending bill.

The House-passed housing bill contained no provision for public housing. The Senate Banking committee, however, proposed a return to the 810,000-unit program first adopted in 1949. The President recommended 35,000 units for each of the next four years.

Sen. Burnet R. Maybank (D-S.C.), long a public housing champion, touched off the controversy by announcing he would wage a floor fight to eliminate all public housing from the bill because of a recent Supreme Court decision banning segregation in a California public housing project.

Six-Year-Old Boy is Killed by Shotgun

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Six-year-old Douglas Peterson was killed Wednesday while he and his 7-year-old brother, Richard, played with their father's shotgun.

Richard said he and Douglas found the shotgun in their father's bedroom and loaded it with some shells they found there. The gun went off, shooting Douglas in the chest.

Their mother, Rita, heard the shot and ran home from a neighbor's house where she had been visiting. She took Douglas to Silver Cross Hospital, where he was pronounced dead upon arrival.

Strawberry Gains

GENEVA, N. Y. (AP)—Virus-free strawberry plants made impressive showings in tests at the N. Y. State Agricultural Experiment Station. Within six weeks after planting in a field where plants of the 1952 season were not worth holding over, the plants made striking growth. Young plants showed greatly reduced mortality.

New Trier Defeats Thornton, 3-2, in Tournament Game

CHICAGO (AP) — The oft-postponed state baseball tournament game between New Trier and Thornton Fractional finally was played with New Trier the 3-2 victor.

The game had been postponed four times by rain since last Thursday. Meanwhile, Belleville and Peoria Manual were frustrated by rain in their attempt to play a first round game at Springfield. The game was rescheduled for today.

New Trier, the tourney favorite, scored only three hits Wednesday against Fractional. However, the Terriers loaded the bases in the second inning on two walks and an error and then scored twice when Martin Johnson was hit by a pitched ball and Mike Layden walked.

A walk led to the winning New Trier run in the third when Don McNeil doubled to score Dick Selinger.

Fractional scored in the first and second innings. Ed Hunter was credited with both RBIs as he drove in the first with a single and then walked with the bases loaded.

New Trier will meet the winner of the Springfield game in Peoria Friday. The other semifinal game there will match Litchfield and Bowen, with the winners meeting for the championship in the afternoon.

Dodgers Beat Braves for Second Straight; Jackie Robinson Ejected by Ump

CHICAGO (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves, finding it just as hard this year as last to defeat Brooklyn at County Stadium, are back in second place today, a full game behind the champion Dodgers.

The Braves, who won only three of 11 games with Brooklyn at Milwaukee last year, were defeated by the Dodgers for the second straight time Wednesday night, 7-6, in a wild, rain-shortened game in which they were ahead at one point 6-2.

The game was called at the end of five innings after being delayed after the third inning for 1 hour, 31 minutes. Umpire Lee Ballanfant cleared the Brooklyn bench in the fourth inning, then relented in the fifth only to eject Jackie Robinson. On his way to the dugout, Robinson threw his bat and it sailed into the stands, hitting an usher.

Five Unearned Runs

Eddie Mathews hit a grand slam home run, his ninth homer of the year, to put the Braves in front, 6-2, in the fourth inning.

The Dodgers came back in the fifth with five unearned runs on a double, two singles, two errors and two walks.

Lew Burdette took the loss, his fourth, for Milwaukee, which has now lost four in a row after climbing into first place on a 10-game win streak. Bob Milliken earned his fourth win for the Dodgers.

In the American League, the White Sox dropped two games behind Cleveland by losing to Boston, 5-2. Rookie Frank Sullivan held the White Sox to seven hits before giving way to Ellis Kinder in the eighth to register his second win. Jackie Jensen sparked a four run Boston first inning with a two run triple.

Chico Carrasquel homered for the White Sox in the eighth.

The Yankees dropped an 8-7 game to the Indians, Baltimore defeated the A's 9-1, and Washington beat the Detroit Tigers, 7-2.

In other National League games, the Giants were rained out at St. Louis after a half inning in which they led 3-0, and the Pirates and Cubs were washed out at Chicago. The Phils beat the Cincinnati Reds, 7-0.

ENJOY YOUR 1954 VACATION—DON'T LET IT GET YOU DOWN—Vacation days are here again. It's a time for rest, relaxation, fun and "getting away from it all"—a time to be carefree. The idea is to refresh body and mind and morale after a year of hard work. So go ahead. But make sure that your vacation is not ruined by avoidable accidents, trouble and annoyances. Here are sketched some timely tips for vacationers, culled from the years-long experience of the National Safety Council.

Dixon Springs Park, Vandalia State House Suggested for 'See Illinois' Visits

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Starved Rock State Park on the Illinois river between the cities of Ottawa and LaSalle is the oldest and one of the most popular of all the parks in the state's network of recreational areas.

Attracting an average of a million or more visitors each year the Starved Rock area has a historic background that dates back many years before the arrival of the first white men in 1673. It served before and after that date as a huge Indian encampment.

A visit to Starved Rock State Park is suggested this week in connection with the "See Illinois Now" program sponsored by Governor William G. Stratton to encourage residents of the state to see more of their home land.

Cooperating in presenting the program to the public are the Division of Reports, Department of Finance; Division of Parks, Department of Conservation; and the Departments of Public Works and Buildings and Public Safety.

Starved Rock State Park is located within easy traveling distance of most cities in the northern and central portions of the state and annually attracts many thousands of motorists from the Chicago area as well as from Rockford, Rock Island, Moline, Peoria, Bloomington, Springfield, Decatur and many other points.

Visits to Cahokia Mounds State Park, near East St. Louis; Apple River Canyon State Park near Galena; Vandalia State House, at Vandalia, and Dixon Springs State Park near Vienna, also are suggested this week in connection with the "See Illinois Now" program.

Brief descriptions of the areas follow:

CAHOKIA MOUNDS STATE PARK is located in St. Clair and Madison counties, northeast of East St. Louis on U. S. Highway 40. It contains the famous Cahokia Indian mounds, relics of an ancient Indian race living here a century or more before Columbus. There are a total of 12 mounds in the park, the largest of which is known as Monk's Mound. The latter is said to represent a greater expenditure of human labor than the construction of the Great Pyramid of Egypt.

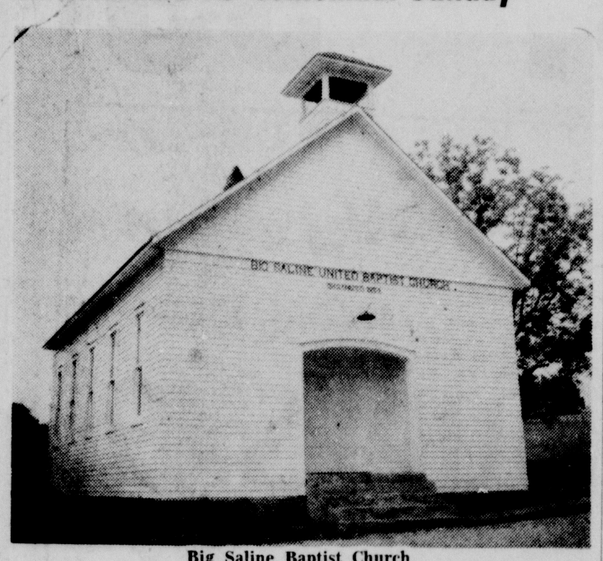

APPLE RIVER CANYON STATE PARK is in JoDaviess county, south and west of Warren and near State Route 78. Located in the hilly northwestern part of the state this park has as its primary attraction many strange and interesting rock formations. A canyon formed by the action of the waters of winding Apple River affords visitors some of the most colorful scenery to be found anywhere.

VANDALIA STATE HOUSE served as the fourth Illinois State Capitol. It is located at Vandalia, in Fayette county, on U. S. Highways 40 and 51. The first Illinois capitol was located at Kaskaskia. The capitol was then moved to Vandalia where it was housed in a frame building erected in 1820 but which burned in 1823. The third capitol was built at Vandalia on the site of the first state bank and was used from 1824 to 1836. The fourth statehouse was erected in 1836 and is still standing. It was in this building that Abraham Lincoln served as one of Sangamon county's representatives in the State Legislature.

DIXON SPRINGS STATE PARK is located in the southern portion of the state on State Routes 145 and 146 in Pope county between Vienna and Golconda. The park has a number of medicinal springs and was formerly a health resort. Located in the rugged area along the southern slope of the Illinois Ozarks in the area in which the park has been developed once served as the site of the first camp of 4-H clubs in the nation.

Gold, silver, copper, lead, and zinc are the five major metals produced in Arizona.

Mrs. Elmer Mattingly, Mrs. Edward Forwe, and Hillis Stapleton are the committee by which the anniversary program is being arranged. They have invited as the main speaker, the Rev. Clayton Humphrey, Harrisburg.

Church Has 45 Members

The day's events will begin with Sunday school at 10 a. m. followed by the 11 a. m. church service, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Hugh Roberts, Golconda, a former pastor, recalled to the Big Saline charge within the past year. Services are each first and third Sunday.

The basket dinner will be spread at noon and in the afternoon the Rev. Humphrey will speak and entertainment will be by the "Boys of Little Egypt" quartet.

This church, which has services on each first and third Sunday, has only 45 members and an average attendance of 30. Its two deacons, Gwin Davis and Robert Taylor, have died within the past year, Mr. Davis dying in the month of May.

The Sunday school is taught by Mrs. Elmer Mattingly, Mrs. Bert Driskell and Mrs. Wilmer Williams. Mrs. Fannie Driskell, mother of Bert Driskell, is believed to be the oldest member of the church. She also lives nearby.

Significance of this little community in the history of Saline county is shown by the fact that it was the first and largest settlement east of Eagle Mountain before the state of Illinois was admitted to the Union in 1818. And, within a stone's throw of the church today, is a large strip mining development, operated by Beecher Williams to supply coal for atomic energy for the big government defense plant at Paducah, Ky.

It was in this settlement that Zadok Aydelotte, a Frenchman, who was an ancestor of Mrs. J. C. Robertson of this city, established a grist mill in 1818, and Hankerson Rude built a blockhouse, which was one of several along the Kaskaskia trail, inhabitants of which altogether did not number more than 90 families.

The grist mill was operated for 30 years before the growing of wheat in Saline county, which did not begin until 1850, according to earliest written history of the area.

Col. Scherrer, Former Shawneetown Native, Gives Plowshares to Koreans

"Scherrer Gives Plowshares" says a streamer in The Fire Ball, newspaper of The 40th Infantry Division, stationed in Korea.

Scherrer is Colonel Edward C. D. Scherrer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Scherrer, native of Shawneetown, who was Chief of Staff of the 40th Division until June 1 and the newspaper story is an account of the division's project to aid Korean farmers.

Members of the 40th Division's ordnance battalion manufactured the metal parts for 16 plows for Korean farmers as an Armed Forces Aid to Korea project.

Using a wooden and metal plow given by a Korean farmer as a model, the shopworkers turned out the 16 plows, each plow consisting of 12 separate parts. Plow blades were cut from ¼ inch sheet steel. The men showed great ingenuity during the project when special tools and parts were lacking. By using materials on hand the project was carried to completion.

Quoting from The Fire Ball—"To make adjusting rods that alter the pitch of the plow blade and thus the depth and type of furrow, unserviceable vehicular lug-wrench handles were sawed to size and by means of a dye, threaded by hand. An empty acetylene gas-bottle provided the mold for making the curve of the plow blades. The patterned, but unshaped flat sheet was beatened into the required curve on the surface of the acetylene bottle.

"For four full days the welders, smithies and sheetmetal workers perspired and labored on their benches and forges, completing their tasks and maintaining the same standard of excellent workmanship on these implements of peace as they had on the implements of war."

Col. Scherrer presented the plows to farmers in the community near the 40th Division area. In making the presentation, Col. Scherrer said "We hope they will serve you well and contribute towards your efforts to plant your rice and other crops to feed yourselves and fellow countrymen . . . this is an example of what can be accomplished when free peoples work together toward peace and prosperity."

Col. Scherrer, a graduate of West Point with the class of 1936, was assigned as Chief of Staff, 1st Cavalry Division, stationed in Japan, June 1, as his former unit, the 40th Division, was rotated to the states.

In joining the 1st Cavalry, Col. Scherrer was really returning "home" as this was the first ground unit to which he was assigned. His wife and two children plan to join him in Japan. They have been living in the Fiji Islands during his stay in Korea.

Mrs. Scherrer is the daughter of a British engineer stationed in the Fiji Islands. She and Col. Scherrer were married in 1944, flying to New Zealand for the wedding ceremony.

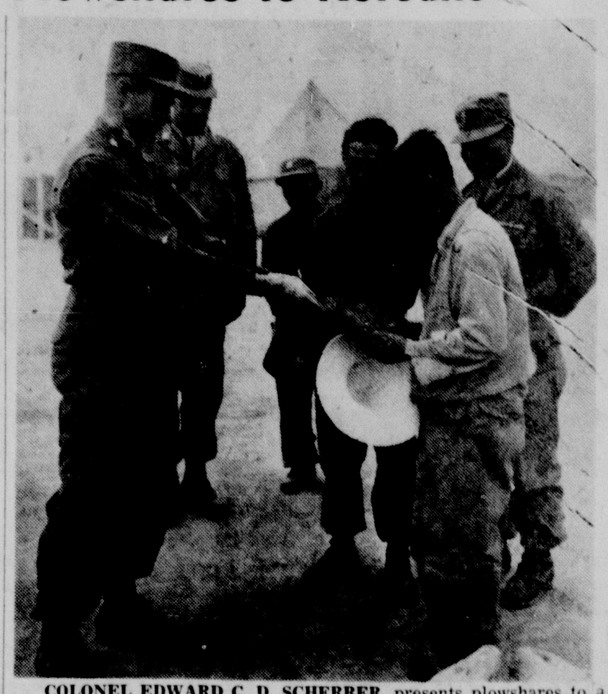

Col. Scherrer has had a distinguished and interesting career in the Army. He has won the D.S.C., the Purple Heart with three Oak Leaf clusters and the Bronze Star. The Purple Heart and two clusters were for injuries suffered in the Pacific Theater of War during World War II and the other cluster for an injury received in Europe, also in War II.

Scherrer worked with Gen. MacArthur during the island hopping days of the Pacific war and did reconnaissance on the New Georgia Islands so successfully that three American divisions landed on the island without opposition from the enemy.

He was later reassigned to Europe and spearheaded the push into Germany by Gen. George Patton's tanks. He was a guide for Gen. Eisenhower when "Ike" made an inspection tour of the First Battalion, 2nd Cavalry regiment in Germany late in 1951.

However, in spite of his brilliant combat career the outstanding act in Col. Scherrer's career may be the peaceful presentation of the plow shares made from warlike materials to the Korean farmers.

". . . They shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks . . ." Isaiah 2:4.

County Historical Society Picnics, Tours Raleigh and Galatia Areas

The June meeting of the Saline County Historical society was held Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Durham in Galatia. This was the first of a series of outdoor dinners and tours scheduled for the summer.

Before the dinner the group visited the site of the Wayside Inn, which was located on the old Kaskaskia Trail between Shawneetown and Kaskaskia; the oldest house in Galatia; the site of the first mill, and the Webber tobacco barn and mill.

The program was an informal discussion on the history and legends centering around Raleigh and Galatia. Mrs. Edna Jones, Mrs. Essie Musgrave, Mr. Durham, J. Ward Barnes, and Louis Aaron directed the discussion and answered questions on the history of the area.

First County Seat

Mrs. Musgrave recalled that Raleigh was the first county seat of Saline county, with a square and a court house in the center of the town. This was surrounded by a plank fence and locust trees. After the county government was changed to Harrisburg, the Raleigh court house was used as a school, and Mrs. Musgrave mentioned that she attended school in that building. Also, in Raleigh, stands the law office of Robert Ingersoll. There, too, was published the first newspaper in the county. This paper, called the Raleigh Egyptian, was founded by a man named Stelle who started the paper in 1852 and continued it until 1856. In that year H. M. Burnett took over its publication and called the newspaper, The Raleigh Flag.

The first three county commissioners, serving in 1848, were James Gaston, David Upchurch and James Stricklin. The first judge, taking office in 1849, was Samuel Elder, great great grandfather of the present judge, Ralph Choisser.

Story of Galatia

Mr. Durham pointed out that the story of Galatia is largely the saga of the Webber-Ryan families. The original Webber, known as Daddy Webber, had three sons who married three Ryan girls. These three men were millers. Henry, known as Uncle Dick, had a mill in Galatia; Nelson, one in Raleigh; and Arch, one in Stonefort.

John Ryan, the first Ryan in Galatia, had nineteen children of his own and reared others besides. It is said that his farm was large enough so that each of his children was given forty acres. He was known for his kindness and benevolence to his neighbors and to travelers who were moving across country on the Kaskaskia Trail. A story is told that in a period of famine, men from the North came to buy corn, but Mr. Ryan sent them on to Shawneetown because he wanted to have his corn for his neighbors who could not afford to pay for it.

Tobacco Industry

Many stories were told of the tobacco industry in the county. Tobacco once was one of the two cash crops a farmer might grow. There were four tobacco barns in Raleigh and one in Galatia. In Raleigh were the Webber, Lusk, and Ramsey barns. The Webber barn burned after three years and was not rebuilt. The Lusk barn, built in 1886, stood back of the present Baptist church. The first year one half million pounds of tobacco were pressed or "prized," as they called it, there; and the second year, a million pounds. Mrs. Musgrave recalled that colored men were brought from Evansville to work in the barns at peak season. Their food was cooked by a colored woman in an old store building. After supper they used to gather in front of the store to sing while the townspeople listened.

In Galatia the Webber family built a large H-shaped tobacco barn. One arm of the H was the stemming shed and here men worked day and night by kerosene lamps stemming the tobacco because the work could not be delayed when the tobacco was ready. When the stems and veins had been removed from the leaves, the tobacco was packed in huge hogsheads, containing at least 500 pounds. When ready for shipment, shafts were attached to each end of the hogsheads, and they were pulled by mules into the boxcars.

Much Work Involved

Mr. Durham said he raised his first tobacco at the age of eleven, planted three-fourths of an acre, and received $17.00 for his crop—a poor one, he added. From then on unti ihe entered school in Carbondale, he bought all his clothes and even paid expenses at college from the proceeds of his yearly tobacco crop. When someone asked why tobacco was no longer grown here, he answered by explaining the work involved in raising a crop. He said, "My back hurts even now when I think about it." First the plants were grown in a bed, then planted 4,000 to the acre, then hoed, suckered, wormed, and topped. Finally the stalk was split to within six inches from the ground, then cut at ground level.

The leaves were placed on a hickory stick about four feet long and carried to a scaffold at the edge of the field. Later the tobacco was transferred to the farmer's barn where it was kept until it came in "case" and then it was tied in bunches or hands and taken to the tobacco barn to be sold. Usually a buyer went around and graded the tobacco into three grades, prime, seconds, and lugs, and contracted to buy it. Ad Lusk in Galatia and Tom Lusk in Raleigh were two of these foremen. Mr. Durham's grandfather, John Anderson, was weigh master at the Galatia barn. Mr. Durham added, "Needless to say, I never smoked but one cigar in my life and never a cigarette."

The meeting adjourned with a tour of the Durham home, which is on the site of the Henry Webber Sr., home built in 1845. The present structure, with its leaded tin roof, is eighty years old. It was remodeled in 1908, and even at that early date was weather stripped.

STRAWBERRY JAM

YIELD: ABOUT 10 SIX-OUNCE GLASSES

4 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit — 7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar — ½ bottle Certo fruit pectin

TO PREPARE THE FRUIT. Crush completely, one layer at a time, about 2 quarts fully ripe strawberries. Measure 4 cups into a very large saucepan.

TO MAKE THE JAM. Add sugar to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in Certo. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with ⅛ inch hot paraffin.

Observing Mrs. Dahlstrom slantwise, Elaine saw approval outlined on her face. What did she approve? Astrid's attitude? Elaine's spunk? No, it couldn't be that.

As though she felt a draft, Mrs. Dahlstrom pulled her light coat together and buttoned the single large button at the neck. "Well," she said, "you young folks better get started." She stood aside to let them precede her.

Involuntarily, Elaine hung back. "Aren't you coming?" she asked.

Mrs. Dahlstrom shook her head and gave an order, "Now you run along."

"Then we must take you home first," Elaine protested.

Tom laughed. "Not Ma. She's a big girl. She'll drive my car home."

Jerry held the door open and, after Astrid had passed through, Tom urged Elaine ahead of him. Their feet scrunched along the cindered parking lot, past Tom's car, to Jerry's convertible in the furthest corner. When they zoomed out of the lot and down the street toward Pete's Place, Elaine had the feeling that they had left behind a lonely woman, who didn't want to be lonely. It gave her a hollow sensation and, then, the guilt that often hung over her in Mrs. Dahlstrom's home returned. But why should she feel this way, when her own son, a devoted son, didn't give a thought to the fact that she had to drive home alone to a dark, silent house?

When they opened the door of Pete's Place, the animated noisiness of the high school crowd, celebrant with the outcome of their show and no classes tomorrow, enfolded them. They found a booth in the back and Tom ordered four hot chocolates.

While they waited to be served, the strained silence of animosity stretched taut between Elaine and Astrid. It seemed to rise above the clamor in the cafe and hang menacingly there above them. Tom, at least, seemed unaware of the tense atmosphere, yet it seemed to engulf both him and Jerry in an air of confusion.

It was ridiculous, Elaine thought. Four adults sitting like a quartet of mute oofs! Pretending to relax against the cushioned plastic of the booth, she siged in pretense of gladness and made herself say, "Haven't these autumn days been unbelievably beautiful?"

Tom grunted, "Too bad you haven't been able to get outside and enjoy them."

The veiled resentment in his voice snapped at her. Tom had never spoken to her in that tone before.

What had she done?

"She's right, Tom," Astrid said sweetly and her tinkling laughter crashed against Elaine's ears. "The days have been lovely, haven't they?"

Tom smiled across the table at her. "They sure have." The normal enthusiasm was back in his voice now. The memory of what must have been a recent conversation came to him and he inquired of Astrid, with a hint of familiarity that was a knife thrust in Elaine's heart, "By the way, did you hear whether or not Johnson decided to buy that new multicrop outfit?"

"Oh," Astrid replied, and her tinkling laughter was intimate and subdued, saying things that had nothing to do with Johnson, whoever he was, and his multicrop outfit, whatever that was. "He can't decide what he wants first. Tomorrow he's going up to St. Paul to look at a new hillside combine and a power spreader. You know how old Johnson is."

Elaine tried to shut out the words. She didn't know anything about what they were discussing, but she did know that Astrid and Tom had talked about this before. It was something Elaine had tried not to suspect these past weeks. Astrid had ridden over by her forest path to visit Tom again. Perhaps she came every day.

In her mind's eye, Elaine could see Astrid astride her sorrel mare, her startling amber hair taking more beauty from the warm autumn sun.

Again Elaine was conscious of her own glamorless black hair and quite ordinary face. Once more she wondered what Tom had seen in her when he could have had Astrid as a bride. This time as she was sunk in her thoughts, Tom had no reassuring glances or words for Elaine.

He was too enraptured in Astrid's intelligent talk about modern farm machinery, a subject Elaine knew nothing about. Or perhaps Tom was only enraptured in Astrid herself.

The knife in Elaine's heart seemed to twist and she leaned back against the plastic cushions as if in pain.

Unceremoniously, Jerry interrupted Astrid's flow of words. "The hot chocolate doesn't seem to be getting here very fast, but some of these bobby-soxers seem to be leaving. How about a dance?"

Astrid shook her head. "No, I'd rather talk." And she blinked her eyes at Tom.

"Well, don't say I didn't ask you, honey chile," said Jerry. He turned to Elaine and winked. "It is really you I want to cling to, baby. Not every day I trip the light fantastic with the star of the show."

Slipping out of the booth, Jerry said to Tom, "if you'll watch, I'll show your wife how we jitterbug Milwaukee style."

Without glancing back at Tom, Elaine let Jerry take her hand and lead her to the jukebox. She watched him slot a coin and punch several large, square red buttons. As they waited for the first record to drop, she burst out, "Jerry, what shall I do?"

Young People's Bible Conference At Lake Benton

The Rev. James G. Johnson, field missionary of the American Sunday School Union, announces the annual young people's Bible conference will be held at Lake Benton again this year.

The conference is arranged for Illinois rural young people with the aim to train them for service in their local Sunday school and any rural young person between the ages of 12-20 is eligible to attend whether they are members of a Union Sunday school or not.

Lake Benton is located three miles north of Benton and the conference dates are June 6-12. The first meal will be served Sunday evening, June 6, at 5:30. Those who attend are urged to arrive in time to register and receive their room assignment before the evening meal. The cost per scholar is $5 which covers the cost of registration, room and board, notebook and insurance. The low rate is made possible through generous gifts to the American Sunday School Union.

William Brinkley of Equality will furnish a school bus for transportation for those who do not have a ride to camp. The following bus schedule should be observed:

Bus arrives at cross roads of Routes 1 and 13 in Gallatin county at the Bradley and Kanady service station at 1:15 p. m., arriving in Eldorado at the city hall on Locust street at 1:45; departing from Eldoardo at 2 and arriving at the Tate service station in Raleigh at 2:15; arriving in camp at Lake Benton about 3:30 p. m.

The bus will return the riders to these various points following the breakfast hour on Saturday, June 12. More than 60 of the 100 scholars have registered from Illinois and Mr. Johnson urges those who wish to attend from this area mail him their $1 registration fee which is part of the $5. His mailing address is 1513 Olive street, Eldorado, Ill.

MEHPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.)—William Neal spotted a fat man with short legs who had solved the steering-wheel-in-stomach problem when driving. The man put a big piece of felt cloth over his stomach and told Neal it kept the wheel from rubbing against his tummy when he drove.
